The arbitration shall be administered by JAMS pursuant to its Comprehensive Arbitration Rules and Procedures and pursuant to its Mass Arbitration Procedures and Guidelines (provided that, with respect to the definition of "Mass Arbitration" as set forth in Procedure 1(c) thereof, the number of claimants shall be 30 or more) and in accordance with the Expedited Procedures in those Rules and any hearing shall be administered online by video conference. Customer agrees to cooperate in good faith with Nebius and the arbitration provider to implement such a "batch approach" or other similar approach to provide for an efficient resolution of claims, including the payment of single filing and administrative fees for batches of claims. This "Batch Arbitrations" provision shall in no way be interpreted as authorizing class arbitration of any kind. Nebius expressly reserves its right to raise unique defenses as to each claimant in connection with this process.

18.1. Confidential information means any information of the disclosing party, including, but not limited to: scientific, technical, technological, production, financial, economic, or other information, including information on information security, identification/authentication, and authorization (logins, passwords, etc.) tools, software and hardware suites, principles of their operation, source codes (their parts) of computer programs; statistics, information on customers, products, services, or research findings. The Parties (in such capacity, the "Receiving Party") undertake to maintain the confidentiality of the Confidential Information and not to disclose or transfer to any third parties' Confidential Information obtained from or made available by each other (in such capacity, the "Disclosing Party") during or before the term of this Agreement, except as specified in the Agreement, stipulated by applicable law or agreed by the Parties in writing, and not to use any Confidential Information for purposes contrary to purposes of the Agreement.

possession the receiving party shall use its best endeavors to prevent any further disclosure or unauthorized use thereof.

18.3. Confidentiality obligations do not apply to any information in the public domain at the time of disclosure or later becomes part of the public domain through no fault of the receiving Party.

18.4. If Confidential information is disclosed in breach of this section, Party at fault undertakes to indemnify for losses caused by such disclosure, if the affected Party requests so. Receiving Party agrees that, due to the unique nature of the Confidential Information, the unauthorized disclosure or use of the Confidential Information may cause injury to Disclosing Party, the extent of which will be difficult to ascertain and for which there may be no adequate remedy at law. Accordingly, Receiving Party agrees that Disclosing Party, in addition to any other available remedies, may have the right to seek an immediate injunction and other equitable relief enjoining any breach or threatened breach of this Agreement as ordered by the court. Receiving Party shall notify Disclosing Party immediately if Receiving Party has reason to believe that any person who has had access to the Confidential Information (including Receiving Party or any of its representatives) has violated or intends to violate the terms of this Agreement or otherwise disclose any Confidential Information in violation of the terms hereof. Any and all remedies herein expressly conferred upon a party will be deemed cumulative with and not exclusive of any other remedy conferred hereby, or by law or equity upon such party, and the exercise by a party of any one remedy will not preclude the exercise of any other remedy.

18.5. The obligations set forth in this section shall bind the Parties for a period of three (3) years from the date of disclosure of Confidential information and such obligations shall survive the termination or earlier expiration of this Agreement. Upon expiration of this term, Receiving Party shall, upon Disclosing Party's written request, promptly deliver to Disclosing Party all Confidential Information, and, at Disclosing Party's sole election, return or destroy all copies, reproductions, summaries, analyses or extracts thereof or based thereon in Receiving Party's possession.

(b) information legally required to be provided to auditors or external consultants subject to such persons undertaking to protect the confidentiality of information transferred under terms that ensure equal or higher level of protection as compared to the terms of the Agreement;

(c) information provided to a Party's affiliates, if such provision to an affiliate is reasonably needed for the Party to discharge its contractual obligations and the affiliate undertakes to protect the confidentiality of information transferred under terms that ensure equal or higher level of protection as compared to the terms of the Agreement;

(d) information provided to third parties involved to provide all or some Services, if such parties undertake to protect the confidentiality of information transferred under terms that ensure equal or higher level of protection as compared to the terms of the Agreement.

20. MISCELLANEOUS

20.1. No agency. This Agreement does not create any agency, partnership relations, joint activity relations, employment, or any other relations between the Customer and Nebius that are not expressly stipulated in the Agreement.

20.2. Severability. If any term (or part of term) of this Agreement and/or any document referred to in the Agreement is invalid, void, illegal, and unenforceable, the rest of the Agreement and any document referred to in the Agreement will remain in effect.

20.3. No waiver. Neither Party will be treated as having waived any rights by not exercising (or delaying the exercise of) any rights under this Agreement and/or any document referred to in the Agreement.

20.4. Assignment. The Agreement provides no assignment of any rights or any license for any parts of the Platform and the Services, unless otherwise expressly stipulated in the Agreement and the documents referred to in the Agreement.

20.5. The Customer may not assign any part of this Agreement or the documents referred to in the Agreement without prior written consent of Nebius.

20.6. Nebius reserves the right to assign, transfer, or delegate any of its rights, duties, or obligations under this Agreement to another company or entity, provided that Nebius notifies the Customer of such assignment in writing at least ten (10) calendar days in advance. The Customer acknowledges and agrees that such assignment shall not relieve Nebius of its obligations under this Agreement, and the assigned entity shall assume all rights, duties, and obligations of Nebius herein.

20.7. Publicity. The Customer hereby authorizes Nebius to use the Customer's name, logo, trademark, trade name, and/or the name of the Customer's software product or website for informational, advertising, and marketing purposes. Such use may include, without limitation, inclusion in customer lists, promotional materials, presentations, case studies, and on Nebius's website. No additional consent shall be required from the Customer.

20.8. Anticorruption clause. The Parties adhere to the applicable anticorruption laws. The Parties hereby acknowledge and confirm that they have adopted a policy of zero tolerance to bribery and corruption, involving a total ban on any corrupt practices and on any facilitation payments. The Parties, their affiliates, employees, as well as intermediaries and representatives directly or indirectly involved in performance of the Parties' obligations (including agents, commission agents, customs brokers and other third parties), shall not accept, pay, offer to pay, allow or authorize the payment/acceptance of any funds or transfer of any benefits (including intangible benefits), directly or indirectly, to/from any persons for the purpose of influencing any actions or decisions with the intention of obtaining any improper advantage, including bypassing any legally prescribed procedure or pursuing other illegal purposes. This clause constitutes the Parties' representations. Either Party may unilaterally withdraw from the Agreement if the other violates the obligations stipulated by this clause. If a Party suspects that any provisions of this clause have been or might be violated, the Party concerned undertakes to immediately notify the other of its suspicions in writing.

20.9. Trade Compliance. The Customer agrees to comply with all applicable export, import, trade, and economic sanctions laws and regulations, including but not limited to, BIS's Export Administration Regulations and OFAC's sanctions regulations (collectively, "Trade Laws"). The Customer acknowledges that (a) certain information, products, or technologies may require a license or other governmental approval for export or reexport under applicable Trade Laws, and (b) it will notify Nebius in advance of assigning any project, technology, or information that may require authorization or special handling under applicable Trade Laws. Upon written request, both parties agree to provide reasonable assistance to support full compliance with applicable Trade Laws. For clarity, Nebius does not pre-screen Customer Data for adherence to export control regulations and will materially rely on Customer's notification regarding control status of Customer Data to ensure compliance with applicable Trade Laws.

20.10. Restrictions Related to Russia and Belarus. Neither the Customer nor any other person acting for or on Customer's behalf or Customer's Ultimate Beneficial Owners (UBOs), are incorporated, registered, located and/or resides in Russia and/or Belarus. The Customer declares that they will not use or integrate the Services in any Customer's activities related to Russia and/or Belarus.

The Customer shall immediately notify Nebius in writing of any breach of the foregoing representation or any change in ownership or other material change in fact that makes the foregoing representation no longer accurate.

Nebius reserves the right to terminate the Agreement immediately if it reasonably determines that the Customer is in breach of this provision. Nebius will not be liable for any losses incurred by the Customer due to such termination.

20.11. Force Majeure. Each Party is released from liability for partial or full failure to discharge the obligations under Agreement, if such failure was caused by force majeure, including acts of God; natural and industrial disasters; epidemic or pandemic; acts of terrorism; hostilities; civil unrest; governmental acts prohibiting or restricting activities of Parties under Agreement; fire, flood, earthquake or other natural disaster, warfare, interruption or failure in telecommunications networks and facilities (including the internet or either party or their supply chains) or a utility service (including electricity); mandatory compliance with any law or other circumstances beyond the reasonable control of the Parties irrespective of their similarity to or difference from those mentioned above; and/or other circumstances that have arisen after the Agreement was signed as a result of emergencies Parties could neither foresee nor prevent, which make it impossible to properly discharge the obligations of Parties (each, a “Force Majeure Event”).

20.12. If force majeure occurs, each Party shall notify the other Party. The notice shall describe the nature of the force majeure and contain official documents certifying its existence and, if possible, evaluating its effect on the Party's ability to fulfill its contractual obligations.

20.13. If force majeure or its consequences last for one (1) month or more, either Party may unilaterally terminate the Agreement for convenience.

20.14. Parties' Details. If Parties change their name, their legal status, addresses and/or settlement details and make other changes that may affect the implementation of the Agreement, a Party that made changes shall notify the other Party within five (5) calendar days from when such changes became effective.
